

David A. Baca

Born into a large extended Hispanic family, David Baca was raised in the culturally diverse South Valley of Albuquerque, New Mexico. Growing up on a family farm provided a background that encouraged hard work and hard play, and promoted the value of a good education.

Following graduation from college, David had a short stint in banking in Los Angeles, California. Upon returning to New Mexico, David worked for the Second Judicial District Court and was the Court Administrator when he resigned to attend law school.

Upon graduating from law school, David clerked for the New Mexico Supreme Court. Following the completion of his clerkship, he was an associate with Civerolo Hansen & Wolf PA in Albuquerque. Thereafter, David was in private practice where he concentrated in the areas of family law and juvenile law.

David subsequently worked as a Deputy Disciplinary Counsel for the Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court of New Mexico. For the past four years David has served as a Hearing Officer in the Family Court of the Second Judicial District.

David attended The Colorado College where he holds a BA in History, and The University of New Mexico School of Law where he received a JD.

In his spare time, David reads, hikes, and goes fishing whenever possible. He enjoys travel and for the past three years has traveled extensively in Croatia and Slovenia.