Promoting women in the New Mexico legal community.

New Mexico
Women's Bar Association

Our Purpose...

The New Mexico Women's Bar Association seeks to accomplish the following:

- establish policies on issues of state-wide, national or international significance especially those relating to women lawyers and women generally;
- promote and protect the interests of women attorneys to achieve their full participation in the legal profession;
- advocate the selection of qualified women to the bench and other positions relative to the administration of the law;
- promote and advocate the representation and participation of women in existing local and national bar organizations, particularly as officers and on committees;
- promote and assist women in establishing careers in the legal profession;
- promote effective administration of justice and improvements in the law, especially as they relate to women;
- encourage participation in the association by women attorneys throughout New Mexico; and
- cooperate with other organizations to advance these purposes.

Our Programs...

Referral Service: The NMWBA refers the public seeking women attorneys to members who would like referrals in their areas of practice. Members are also available to each other for questions and answers.

Special Programs: The NMWBA hosts events honoring female lawyers in New Mexico.

Newsletter and Website: The NMWBA publishes a newsletter and maintains a website which provide information on current and ongoing programs of the association and information of interest to the members.

General: The NMWBA encourages women to seek and accept appointment to bar/state/judicial panels, boards and commissions: advocates for the selection of qualified women attorney candidates for judicial positions at all levels; provides women attorneys the opportunity to develop friendships and networks to address questions and problems of concern in their practice; serves as a strong voice on behalf of all women.
