

Pro Se Can You See: Navigating the Fog of the Pro Se Litigant

via Satellite from UNM Media Center

Friday, February 24, 2006

10 - 11 a.m. 1.0 Ethics CLE Credit

11 a.m. - Noon 1.0 Professionalism CLE Credit

Co-Sponsor: SBNM Commission on Professionalism

Pro Se adversaries present a multitude of ethical challenges for attorneys, only some of which are covered by the Rules of Professional Conduct. The perils of dealing with unrepresented parties are always present, and the usually clear-cut standards of what constitutes fairness to opposing counsel can become blurry indeed. Pro se litigants pose special problems for government attorneys as well.

“Pro Se Can You See” is a two-hour CLE seminar focusing on both the professional rules and the ethical principles that can come into play when your client’s adversary is representing himself or herself. Through the use of challenging interactive hypotheticals and lively discussion, the program will examine both common and uncommon dilemmas, not only identifying relevant rules, but also tools and concepts that can prove invaluable when the rules fail to provide a clear path to the right course of action. This seminar will fulfill one hour of ethics and one hour of professionalism with two hours of stimulating inquiry.
